Rebels Begin to Clear Wreckage In the Streets of Stronghold

Counter Proposition of Butler Reported by New York Message

A lengthy telegram received from New York yesterday by W. C. Ralston explains the situation in the West End-Butler controversy, according to the San Francisco Chronicle. The telegram said in part:

"The fact that the Jim Butler company has referred the matter to its counsel is weighty with significance. The West End company originally proposed to pay Jim Butler company $125,000, this amount being one-half of the value of the ore mined from the disputed ore body and the future proceeds from this body were to be divided on a basis of 50 per cent to each company, Jim Butler doing the mining and West End the milling. When this proposition was made public it was taken to mean that the West End management preferred this manner of settlement to long and expensive litigation, believing the deposit to be big enough for both companies. This proposal was rejected and the Jim Butler company submitted a counter proposition, which, as now appears, was that West End was to keep all values extracted from the disputed ore body to date, but that ownership of the deposit was to be defined by an agreement that neither company should go beyond its vertical side lines in the future."

FAIL TO SHUT OUT VOTERS

JUSTICE LENDS HIMSELF TO PETTY PIECE OF SPITE WORK

The school election today brought out a large vote all through the day. At the opening of the polling place in the primary school house a dozen voters were waiting to cast their ballots and, then there was a steady stream until nearly noon, when the attendance grew and the officers of election had to insist on intending voters forming a line and casting their ballots in regular order.

At 3 o'clock a total of 550 votes had been cast. From noon until 3 o'clock the employees of the mines from the night shift woke up and began to appear in considerable numbers, which increased steadily until the day shift came off at 3:30. This caused a rush that kept the officers of election keyed up to high tension taking care of the voters. The election was conducted without any arguments or disputes, as every man appeared eager to place himself on record and resume his ordinary avocation. At 2 o'clock 425 had voted and it looked as though the total would be the greatest cast at any school election.

After 2 o'clock when it was found that the voting was going strongly for the non-partisan ticket the Socialists applied to Justice Dunsen for a restraining order to stop owners of private automobiles from carrying voters to the polling place. These were handed to Constable Evans, who refused to serve them, saying every owner of a machine or a wagon or carriage had a perfect right to use his vehicle for any purpose he pleased, and no one could prevent him from carrying as many friends to the polls as he wanted to.

The efforts of the justice to help his Socialist friends were ridiculed and his feeble efforts to thwart the wishes of the people were laughed at. The interest taken in the election may be gauged from the fact that the votes were deposited at the rate of one and a half a minute.

ON TO SALTILLO AND MONTEREY SPANIARDS PROTECTED BY U. S. MEXICAN COMMANDER INSANE

(By Associated Press.)

TORREON, April 4.—The city is occupied by rebels in force. The work of burning bodies and clearing wreckage and barricades has begun. Velasco is pursued by Hernandez. It is estimated that out of Velasco's garrison of 5000, 1500 were killed or wounded.

Witnesses assert that Velasco summarily executed three Spaniards accused of firing property.

Lotero Lopez attempted to shield her husband and the same bullet killed both. Three hundred and fifty Spaniards, many of them women and children, took refuge with the American consul.

A fortnight will be required to reorganize before beginning the campaign against Saltillo and Monterey. Rebel leaders eagerly await news of the political effect of the victory on Mexico City and Washington. It is rumored that Velasco is wounded and insane.

University Regents Denounce Actions of the Suffragettes In Their Political Propaganda

(Special to the Bonanza.)

RENO, April 4.—By a resolution unanimously passed the university regents have barred the University of Nevada Equal Suffrage League from use of the university name in connection with that organization.

Regent Henderson of Elko was delegated to draw up an emphatic resolution so the public will understand the university name cannot be used to foster any political or religious propaganda or sect. This action is the result of the Tonopah schools incident.

NEVADA REPUBLICANS WANT NONE OF BACKSLIDING BULL MOOSERS

(Special correspondence.)

RENO, April 4.—Politics begin to simmer. There are many men who seem to think that the State of Nevada will go to the hot place if they are not nominated and elected to office. Of course these dear gentlemen feel that they know the wants and needs of Nevada, and that they and they alone can save this State. Now the question is, who shall be the United States senator. Among the Republicans, so far, Hon. Sam Platt has announced his candidacy, and he certainly is a strong man. He was born in the State and has made a record as United States district attorney, honorable to himself and to the State. He is a pleasant public speaker and every way qualified as to the knowledge of the needs of the State, and a true Nevada. He can make his own campaign and is not under any outside influence. If it be possible for the Republicans to elect anyone, Sam is the man. By the word Republican is meant Republican. This does not include the Roosevelt Progressives, because they are not included in the term "Republican." They deserted and betrayed the party and organized a party of their own, and they should stand or fall upon their own organization and have no right to affiliate with or claim to be Republicans. They and some leading members of the Republican party are seeking to make some combination upon the theory that the Roosevelt bullmoosers should be considered Republicans. But it won't work. They may control the State central committee by such a scheme but it will not work for the party in true blue-Taft Republican, determined not to support any candidate for office who voted for Roosevelt. That is, Republicans will not honor traitors to the party. If it is to lose, well and good. Voters of the party are Republicans from principle, not from policy, and would rather go to defeat than honor men who have betrayed them and sought and brought defeat and aided to foist upon the American people an un-American administration, which in the end will prove to be the most unwise and incapable ever known in these United States.

Members of the Republican State central committee from every county in Nevada should demand of the chairman that he immediately call a meeting, giving notice to all committeemen to meet in Reno, and there formulate some form of campaign. The fact is that to succeed there must be full party action and not let a few individuals, who may think and take upon themselves the control of the party, that they are the Republican party. The whole State has the right to speak upon party action, and there should be an expression of the members of the State central committee from each county of the State, and by thus act-

DID NOT WANT TO BE KISSED

DEFIES ACCUSED PREACHER TO TRY OSCULATION ON HER

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 4.—Jane Est, identified as one of the industrial workers, created consternation by trying to force her way into the trial of Dr. Jacob Price, pastor of Washington Heights Methodist Episcopal church, charged with misconduct by nine women of his congregation.

"Let me in," she shouted. "This is not a private trial. Ecclesiasticalism itself is on trial. Ecclesiasticalism has always whitewashed the church when ever charges were made against a pastor. Trials ought to be open. I want to see Dr. Price. I'd like to see him try to kiss me."

It is charged that Price, among other things, tried to kiss women of his congregation.

HUERTA AFRAID OF TELLING OF THE LOSS OF TORREON

GOVERNMENT IN MEXICO CITY WITHHOLDING RESULTS OF THE BATTLE

(By Associated Press.)

MEXICO CITY, April 4.—The federal government still obstinately denies the capture of Torreon by rebels. It is believed, however, that Huerta and his ministers know of the city's fate. It is suggested that the withholding of news from the public is based on psychological rather than military grounds. It is said that the temperament of the Mexican populace is such that news of a disaster like the fall of Torreon might start an avalanche of public opinion against the administration, which would find itself embarrassed at this critical moment.

LADYBANK, Scotland, April 24.—Asquith opened his election campaign today. He explained he assumed his duties because of the grave situation. He said: "It is certain that if things went on as threatened, a controversy would arise which patriotic men have been eager to avoid until a case of crucial urgency arose."

MOTHER OF EDITOR DIES

tinues his policy of attempting to subject the president of Mexico to the scorn and the condemnation of the civilized world."

His topic was "The Scope and Limits of Our Obligations Toward Mexico." These he defined roughly as insistence upon order in the neighboring state and helpfulness to that end.

The idea that the United States should become sponsor and champion of constitutional government in Mexico as set forth in President Wilson's message of December 2, 1913, he termed "inspiring" but "untenable."

"However unwilling we may be to accept the situation, it is nevertheless a fact that the present constitution of Mexico is unworkable, and any attempt on the part of an outside power to force her to operate it is in reality condemning the country to anarchy and chaos," he declared.

"The serious student of Mexico can have no sympathy with the view that Mexico must have an arbitrary, tyrannical central government, ruthless in its methods and unmindful of the personal rights of the inhabitants. There is a wide difference between a strong, centralized, unified government and a tyrannical government. In fact, the real situation in Mexico is that the weaker the central government, the more the poor, unprotected Indian is made to suffer from the tyranny, the abuse and the corruption of local political leaders and subordinate administrative officials."

"In any estimate of Mexican political conditions, it must always be borne in mind that we are dealing with a nation essentially Indian in its ethnic make-up, and in which the percentage of illiteracy is probably in excess of 90 per cent."

"The sentiments expressed by President Wilson in his message are dictated by a lofty idealism, but it is an idealism which bears no direct or organic relation to the present needs and the present possibilities of Mexico. The intent, no doubt, was to formulate a policy helpful to Mexico, but when tested by the actual conditions of political life, the application of the constitutional standards contained in this message can have but one result, namely, to condemn the country to a prolonged period of anarchy, the outcome of which must be either the complete disappearance of every vestige of civilization or the armed intervention of the United States to preserve the remnants which still exist."

GANGRENE, NOT WILD PARSNIPS

ROUND MOUNTAIN BOY DIES ALONE AT NIGHT IN HIS TENT

That William Harden, the young sheep tender on the Marsh ranch, came to his death from the effects of gangrene caused by a cancerous affection was the verdict of a coroner's jury which heard testimony in the case this morning.

The body was brought to Tonopah late yesterday afternoon, accompanied by County Commissioner W. A. Marsh, who told the circumstances of the death which robbed the story of the feature of the boy having eaten wild parsnips and was poisoned.

Mr. Marsh said the boy had been employed by him for the last five months and first complained of illness about March 27, when young Rogan of Tonopah came into the home ranch to report that Harden was not feeling well and surmised that Harden was suffering from a bilious attack. Mr. Marsh gave the messenger some physic with instructions for Harden to take it in liberal quantities. Two days later Harden was said to have recovered and no longer complained. On account of religious scruples he refused to take the medicine. On the following Thursday morning, April 2, the camp tender found Harden dead in his tent, where he expired during the night. The story of the use of parsnips was due to a statement made by deceased when he first experienced trouble to the effect that he had partaken of wild onions and ascribed the cramps to that diet.

Doctors Richards and McLeod held a post mortem this morning and their testimony was that the boy was suffering from a cancerous affection between the large and small intestines which completely stopped the system and engendering gangrene. An operation might have led to relief but both physicians agreed that the benefits would have been merely temporary, as the trouble had advanced too far to be controlled.

The boy's name is William Harden, not Harding as stated. He was born in Leavenworth, Kas., 18 years ago and was employed with the sheep for the last five months. Before that he worked at Round Mountain for eight months, and his mother lives there. An uncle of the deceased, I. M. Williams, arrived from Round Mountain this morning and left at 3 o'clock this afternoon with the body, which will be interred at Round Mountain.
